Your project is approved.

You will need to select a new topic. If it also includes animals or humans, start this process over again. Revise your idea.

You may continue with your project. Print the approval letter you received for your logbook. Remember to have participants sign a permission slip and to keep their personal information private. Look on qrstf.ca for forms.

Examples of projects involving humans are taste tests, surveys, and tests of strength or ability.
